Protests have been made to the officials and there is complaint to others, but the derks have evidently taken the Oue from the suggestion of the officials who have imated that no sames will be given. A clerk said yesterday that as the Gov frament still avails strelf of the expericase and knowledge of the clerks there is no reason why they should not be past for such knowledge and experience, neither of which can be had by promoting clerks

The clerks are not disposed to regard their reduced salaries as a good regam-to call the new roll on which they are placed, a tall of hunor. They regard the event rather as a hundration, and that is one teason why they do not themselves are for the publication of their names. An offest was conde yesterday to get the names from the Civil Service Con son. It was stated there by Secretary Doyle that there was no record there. The protest of the clerks will not be ward by the commission, if made, for the he derks have not been reduced for elicious or political reasons. Nor is the stituted on honorary bessive roll con edered in the light of establishing a vivi penshin list. It is held that the Treasury eted within its jurnidiction and cause ticassi for so doing. It is nonetti-that there is no precedent, however, for the action of Secretary Care. Major Brackett said yesterday that there were in course of preparation engraved certificates, one of which will be pre-sented to each of the re-lared clerks. It's understood that in some of the cases a petition will be sent by G. A. R. officials for a restoration of salary. The Treasury side of the case has been already given in at interview with Mr. Vanderin, Asstorm' Secretary. Famous Coach the Guest of Honor Last Night.

Delegations From Yale and Harvard Are Present and Representative Men Respond to Toasts.

The Washington alumni of Yale and Harard universities were present last night t a dinner given at the Metropolitan Jub Mr. Lebman, the well-known coach of the Harvard crew, and to Mr. Willis. Capt. Letimar is one of the editors of Punch, his taste for amletics being only a side issue, but one which has made him famous on three continents.

The idea of the banquet was conceived by Mr. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Mr. Poster, secretary to the President, and Capt. Wood, U. S. A. It was a subscription imaquet, the guests numbering twenty; ten of Harvard and rom the city, an invitation was sent to lob Cook, of Yale, the famous couch of Yale, who responded promptly by his

Those who were called upon and responded to the seathnests of the occasion were Justice Brewer, Mr. Koosevelt, Repentative Dakell, Senator Wolcott, Senafor Lodge. Representative Moody, and Sec retary Potter. The responses were by Mr. Lehman and Mr. Willis.

The remarks of Secretary Long were very appy in introducing the guests of bonor. He spoke of the desire of the Washington umbi of Yale and Harvard, in the most raternal manner, to extend a weicome no purify the atmosphere of pure sports in inerica and clewhere.

Mr. Lehman made a brief and pointed eply, in which he said that he regarded be occasion as rather a tribute to what n represented than bloods. He argued well from this event for a closer communion and a filter feeling of friendship and regard ong all the lines of college life between the men of Yale and those of Harvard and their Leetheen in the athletic World in the other side of the Atlantic. Mr. Lehman and Mr. Willis have been n town for a day of two, and have been the recipients of many confreses from the ciubmen generally. It was the first visit of Mr. Lebman to Washington, and he took occasion last night to acknowledge these, and to give assurance of his high appre-ciation of his new-scade friends. Mr. Cook and Mr. Willis have been in
